6 Cent Fare on Railroads. New Ohio Law.

May be several years or even decades too soon until railroad passenger fares with the tendency toward a reduction of a two-cent basis per fares on the roads of Mississippi and north of this is clearly evident and that becomes the basis in this within a few years is the most experienced railroad men.

important factor toward the rapid growth of the interurban railroads in many Northern Eastern states, and in some are very serious burdens upon the general business of the two

It will perhaps be surprising to know that in Connecticut the trolley roads carry more passengers than the steam roads, and it is well known that the rates of fare are much cheaper.

According to the annual report of railroad commissioners of Connecticut the electric roads carried over 50 per cent more passengers in 1905 than the steam lines. The steam roads carried 64,403,149 passengers and the trolleys 102,849,160. The steam roads injured 790 persons, 184 fatally, while the trolleys injured 465, 28 of them fatally. The total stocks, bonds and floating debts of the trolley companies amounted to $6,048,532, an increase of $12,000,000 over the previous year.

Thus a comparison may be made of the passenger business of the two kinds of roads to the advantage of the electric roads and the people on account of the convenience of travel afforded and the cheapness. The average rate per mile on electric roads is less than two cents, and in many instances one cent per mile is the regular fare. That this is not too little is proven by the great financial success of these electric lines and their rapid spread all over the United States.

The railroads are watching the growth of the electric roads in many states with some alarm and whenever the state railroad commissioners will allow them they meet the reduced passenger rates between certain points.

In the case of an electric line connecting two large cities in Texas, the general passenger agent of a railroad line between the two cities announced that he would cut the fare on his road from one dollar to ten cents if the electric line made the fare too low. The fare now in force on both the electric and the steam road is two cents per mile between the two cities, but the steam road is allowed by the Texas railroad commission to sell a five-hundred-mile book good only between these points at $5, which gives the railroad the advantage so far as regular business is concerned.

So it may be deduced that the electric roads will be the greatest medium for bringing about the reduction of railroad fares. Since the new railroad law went into effect a great deal of free and reduced transportation is cut off and the beneficiaries of such have not yet been heard from, but a howl is expected sooner or later, and the howl will be attended by a demand for lower passenger rates on the railroads.

The new Ohio two cent law, which was at first thought to be entirely too radical, is found to be working admirably and the railroads are actually realizing an increase in passenger earnings. Railroads that cross Ohio and run into other states did not at first like the idea of a two-cent rate, and were prepared to hear that it didn't work, but they now find out differently, and are actually preparing to reduce their rates in other states.

The Pennsylvania road was the first to announce the reduction policy and now rates are two and a half cents per mile on that road in Pennsylvania, with 1,000 miles books sold at two cents per mile. The Vanderbilt lines are expected to follow, and other states are expected to fall in line very soon with Ohio on the two-cent fare proposition.

Abe Walker, a negro charged with violating the local option law at Crosson, was last Saturday tried before a justice of the peace here and convicted. He was fined $500. In default he was placed in jail and shortly afterward, with ball and chain, decorating a foot, went to work on the rockpile. When Jailer Cobb happened around that way again in about half an hour Walker had disappeared. With a rock he had beaten the chain in two, and with a short bit of it hanging to him had taken his departure. From that time to this he has not been, so far as the officers know, Charleton Enterprise.

Wonder if this is Union City's Abe?

HENRY WATTERSON

So much has been said about Col. Henry Watterson, his attitude toward Mr. Bryan in 1896, and his changed attitude in the present campaign. Whatever may be said of the veteran democrat, we believe he is a conscientious democrat, true to his convictions, and not one to sit on the fence and fall to whichever side public opinion would tend to dictate. The Courier admires this kind of a man, even though his convictions be other than ours. He is a man of brains, he thinks for himself, and stands true to his convictions, acting according to dictates of conscience. The campaign of 1896 has passed into history and why not let by-gones be by-gones. Mr. Watterson is now standing loyal to Democracy, and is accomplishing and will accomplish good. Below we reproduce a clipping from the Chicago Chronicle and Mr. Watterson's comment on it:

"Like ancient Pistol, Henry Watterson eats the leek. He swallows the Bitter end and says that he likes it. The performance is not genuine, however, for though Bryan is the same old Bryan, Watterson is not the same old Watterson."

What language is this, and how does it describe, or explain, or throw light upon, the political situation, or any aspect thereof? What can the Chronicle mean by such terms as "leek" and "dose" as applicable to prevailing conditions? Is Government a diet? Is politics a physic? Must thoughtful men be controlled in their attitude toward public affairs by mere personal likes and dislikes?

We think not so. The editor of the Courier-Journal did not oppose Mr. Bryan in 1896 because he disliked Mr. Bryan, and does not support him now because he has fallen in love with him. As a matter of fact Mr. Watterson has at no time had sufficient knowledge of Mr. Bryan, having had no personal intercourse at all, either to like or dislike him, and, except to the most narrow and partisan fancy, there is not an iota of inconsistency in the support he is giving him, though, if there were, he would not mind it in the least, since it is wise men and brave men who may change their opinions, whilst only fools and cowards stick to theirs, in spite of wind and wave. With respect to Mr. Bryan, however, Mr. Watterson has had to stifle no conviction, or repudiate any antecedent. Times have changed. Conditions have changed. That is all. Mr. Watterson is a democrat, and has always been a democrat, never a Republican. Essential differences out of the way, Democrats are getting together. Mr. Bryan is going to be nominated by acclamation in the next Democratic National Convention. The Courier-Journal is going to support him and now you have it.

What else? What? Go to get thee to a blacksmith shop! Don't take thy brother for a bump on a log?

WHERE IS THE EQUITY?

It is a question of the utmost simplicity—where is the equity? The word equity means impartial distribution of justice; now which do you, an impartial judge, think is equity, for the hard working sons of toil to raise their crops for the consumption of the public, to be under-priced by the dictates of the speculators and gamblers on the boards of trade, who know not the value of a dollar or what a day's labor means—or do you think it is equity for these sons of toil to organize, and, after they have by the sweat of their brows, produced that which must be consumed by the public, demand a price for it that will injure its production?

According to the literal meaning, im-pial distribution of justice, for equality to exist the farmer must have his just share of the value of the produce that he, himself raises. We think you decide in the behalf of the producer, for in truth, therein is the equity. While this great farmers' movement is yet practical in its infancy, the marked results may be seen throughout the country, and the resulting benefits would be seen to a greater extent if the farmers themselves would wake up to their own interests. The Courier believes they ought to be given more encouragement, and that on the other hand they ought to quit napping and conjecturing and take hold. If they don't it won't be long until they'll be classed with the "used-to-be's."

A goodly number of circular letters were received by the local subscribers of the Cumberland Telephone Company this week, admonishing the people against encouraging a competitive Telephone company. These people insist that it is better to have one telephone company in a town with fair rates and good service than it is to have a competitive company and be separated, so to speak, by two lines.

Now we have heard not a small amount of discussion about this letter, and not considering what other people think about the matter we think that if the Cumberland people would give us good service at the rates that their franchise calls for, which are 15 cents per month less than the patrons are paying, there would not be so much dissatisfaction as there is.

The franchise that these people have calls for is the best of service and the best instruments that are available for $1.50 per month for residences and $2.50 for business houses. Under these circumstances it looks like unless these people comply with their part of the contract, (which a franchise is,) the city has the right to declare void the franchise and allow another company to enter the field.

To the managers of the Cumberland and apprise them of the facts. Of course it must be understood that the local manager has nothing to do with this part of it and should not be censured for the failure of his company to comply with the franchise, but something should be done to prevent these people from charging these exorbitant rates. This overcharge will amount to not less than $3.00 a month to the local patrons. This is about $350.00 a year and is quite an item.

Talk about politics, well they are warming up some. Our sister state, Tennessee, is keeping abreast of us, even though there is a poem which ends—"And politics are the damnedest in Kentucky." The Mayfield Messenger comes out in a flaming editorial spurning the Monitor for crossing over from the McCrory to the Beckham lines, when in reality it would take the power of a compound microscope and the genius of a Philadelphia lawyer to discern which side of the fence it is on.

We take it for granted that parents are as much if not more interested in the advancement of their children at school as are the teachers, and no teacher takes delight in a pupil's failure. The management simply wishes to call the attention of the parents to the facts in the case and urgently request, no demand, that nothing be allowed to interfere with the progress of their children in school work.

Congressman Hepburn, chairman of the House Committee, declares that amendments to the new railway rate law are almost certain to be made at the next session of Congress. The changes largely will be in the nature of simplifying certain parts of the act and making enforcement easier.

The vital statistics announce a striking increase in the number of suicides in Chicago. Easy remedy. Don't live in Chicago.

Business Begins With Our Merchants This Week.

The regular fall business is beginning with the merchants this week, and by next week will be in full blast. The largest volume of business ever known in the history of Hickman is expected to be done here this fall, and from what we can learn all our merchants are prepared to cope with conditions. All the buyers have been to market and returned and already the new goods are arriving. Each season seems to inspire the merchants to exceed the former one in the quality of goods bought and the much desired result is that there can be found here a line of goods that cannot be equalled outside the metropolitan department stores. You will do well to investigate the goods that our merchants offer and we feel quite sure that you will have no need to go any further than one of our local stores to get what you want. Read the advertisements of the advertisers in the Courier this week as well as every week hereafter as long as the season lasts and see what they have for you to see

Revival Services.

A protracted meeting will begin at the Methodist church near Sunday. The church has been called to daily prayer for the meeting. The pastor has urged upon the congregation for several Sundays to make all needed preparations for the coming revival. All Christians and friends of the church are invited to co-operate in this work.

After being out fifty-two hours, the jury brought in a verdict, acquitting H. H. Loving of the charge of murdering H. A. Rose, at Paducah, August 3, last year, in Loving's office in the Fraternity building. Loving and Rose had been partners, disagreed and Loving claimed he shot Rose in self-defense. The jury stood nine for acquittal and three for conviction until the final vote.

Mr. Joe Curlin, late of Jordan, is now stationed behind the counters at E. C. Rice's and will be glad to have his friends come see him, as well as have others come in and be his friends.

The M. & O. and N. C. & St. L. R. R. have both made rates of one fare plus 25 cents to Union City's greatest fair. Their running, trotting, and pacing races are alone worth going miles to see.

THE BARBECUE.

While this reaches the reader there will be a closed incident, a moment in history, but as I must present it in print I would need the vision of Daniel, Isaiah and the old men to tell what may be by the time this reaches you while I claim no extraordinary powers of vision, I hope indulged in a few observations allowed to point out the results of the causes now at work. Some have said our barbecue is a money-making scheme ought to be condemned by people and especially honest. Now this barbecue has been up by the A. S. of E., Fulton County, and if this body come into a money-making scheme then according to my knowledge the whole county ought to be condemned. But let us both sides of a question jump to a conclusion. I admit at once that I regard it as the largest, noblest, money-making scheme that exists with one exception. I fully believe that if the great equity are carried out every man, woman and child who attended this barbecue will be doubly benefited. Not only so those who stay at home, every man of Fulton, Graves and Obion will be benefited, provided we have long enough to see the results well organized.

In 1914, according to the United States Department of Agriculture Farmers raised 2,464,480,000 bushels of corn, in round numbers may buy two and a half billion bushels yet obtain the exact figures and in 1916, but it is generally agreed that these are both large crops and if 1904 falls a little of 2-1/2 billions surely two large crops will make up the deficiency and make the average 3 billions. In 1904 we raised 4,133 bushels of oats, 552,000 bushels of wheat, 139,748 bushels of barley, 47,300,511 and 41,669,443 cattle. Then tell how many bales of cotton, bushels of potatoes, pounds of meat, etc., etc?

price of all these products by the speculators and gamblers themselves until the organization of the farmers in 1902.

With this partial organization the price of tobacco has been doubled and cotton almost doubled. Commercial men tell me that the men get his tobacco now cheaper than he did then and his cotton is at almost the same price. We raise the price of corn on the bushel. This crop would pay the farmers $250,000. Ten cents on oats $100,000.

Twenty cents on wheat, over $600, and so on with the barley, etc., cattle, sheep, tobacco, etc., etc. safe in predicting that this will put one billion dollars in the pockets of the farmers every year. And who will be benefited? The farmers and village merchants will stop moving to the cities to educate their children, for they will be able to educate them at home. The local stock and produce buyers will receive a better income because the better the price the more their per cent will be. The railroads will get just as much for hauling a dear bushel as a cheap bushel. The farmer will be able to pay the laborer better prices and the laborer can pay up his store bills without being carried by the merchant. The merchant can sell more goods and better goods because the farmer can afford to buy them and pay for them. The doctor, the lawyer and the teacher will all have less trouble in collecting their bills because the farmer will be prosperous. Everybody will have better roads because the farmer must have better roads to haul his produce and receive his rural mail at all seasons of the year. All this can be done and yet furnish the consumer his bread, meat, calico, domestic, etc., just as cheap as he gets it now and nobody hurt except the gamblers who sit in the grain pits and price our produce before we barely get it planted.

The Cumberland Presbytery Convened.

Obion presbytery of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church was in session at Reelin, near Dyersburg, last week, with fifty-two delegates present, four ministers absent and 5 strong loyal congregations not represented, making a total of fifty-one. A close poll of the congregations represented showing 3,456 members loyal to the Cumberland Presbyterian creed and organizing and 175 members having gone to the Northern Presbyterian Church under the union movement. A complete canvas is expected to show about 4,250 out of the 4,500 members still Cumberland Presbyterians.

The local church here is divided to a certain extent, although we hope a reconciliation will be brought about soon.

Say, kids, What do you think of school?

By gum, Ain't it bum?

And yet you've got to have it. It's medicine you see,

To cure you for the uses Of our futurity.

It takes your baby knowledge

And spreads it big and wide Into a power of greatness

That swells the nation's pride.

It makes the feeble potent;

It lifts the strength of man

To such an elevation

At nothing mortal can.

It builds you into something

You can't at present see,

And makes you what your Maker Intended you to be.

So, kids,

Stick to it through thick or thin,

And you're bound to win,

But just now it's tough

Enough—

Ain't it?

I. C. Brown, a local insurance agent of Fulton, who was arrested on the charge of forging the names of R. N. Whitehead and J. M. New Spur Being Put in for Sand.

Workmen began this week laying a new spur of railroad track from the old coal track near the depot to the wharf, for the purpose loading sand. Lately a great deal of sand has been shipped from here to Nashville and other points and the demand was so great for the spur that the request from Agent R. B. Johnson was readily granted. Special freight rates were granted on sand from Hickman to Nashville of 70 cents per ton of 10 car lots.

Hickman will be Benefitted by the M. & C. Electric R. R.

In response to a communication from the Courier, concerning the Mayfield & Columbus Electric Railway and to what extent it might be beneficial to Hickman, Mr. Skagton, the chief promoter, writes:

Dear Sir:—The enclosed is a copy of the official prospectus of the M. & C. E. R. R., as far as Hickman is concerned. The two steamer can be put into commission in a very short time. It is an absolute certainty that the M. & C. E. R. R. will be built, and if you will look at the map you will see that Columbus and Hickman ought to be connected by rapid transit service on the river. It is possible that Tiptonville, five miles from SloUGH Landing and forty miles by water, can have a stage or auto line as the completion of the river portion of the work. Your proposed schedule for the two boats would include a daily trip to SloUGH Landing. The river is being resuscitated, and river traffic will be what it once was. Anything you will do to put this matter before the people of Hickman will be appreciated. If you could name a day that you would like to hear me talk to them, I would make it a point to fill the engagement.

Yours truly,

Edward M. Skagton

That part of the prospectus mentioned in the letter, which is of interest to our citizens follows: "Hickman and Cairo. Whatever the Mayfield & Columbus railway may do in the way of hauling freight, it is certain that express goods and passengers will have regular and rapid transit between Hickman, Columbus, and Cairo. The intention is to commission two small, fast passenger yachts, one to leave Hickman for Cairo in the early morning connecting with the morning car from Mayfield at Columbus, and leaving Cairo for Hickman in the evening, again connecting with the last Mayfield car at Columbus. The other boat from Cairo, starting for Hickman early and meeting the train from Mayfield at Columbus, will leave in the morning and leave in the afternoon for Cairo, connecting on the north-bound trip with the evening car, or train, for aid from Mayfield. The running time will not exceed one hour from Mayfield to Columbus by railway or two hours from Columbus either to Hickman or Cairo by boat, hence a total of three hours from Mayfield to Hickman or Cairo, by rail and water, and four hours either way between Hickman and Cairo. Boats will have buffet luncheon and other yacht accommodations."

The capital stock for this new road will be $350,000, and divided into shares of $10 each. But it is not intended that the stockholder shall be called upon to pay the full face value of his stock. He must, however, according to law, pay $2 per share, or 20 per cent of the stock for which he subscribes at the time.

The building of this road is practically assured, and the management expects to begin work on it about November 1st.

It should have the hearty cooperation of the people in every town and community which it will benefit. This is a good work, push it along.

For Lieutenant Governor—South Trimble.

By-Monthly Letter From Pupils of Hickman College.

We have arranged to give the pupils of Hickman College some space every two weeks, for the purpose of writing a school letter. This, we believe will tend to cause more or less interest to be manifested in the school work, and enable the outsider to see what is being done, and what progress is being made. The only objection this week, the first letter, is that it seems Prof. Gabby was so conscientious in using newspaper space that he allowed the letter to be too brief. Perhaps he will wake up next time.

INTERESTING LECTURE.

On Tuesday September 11, Mr. L. A. Eutney, of Atlanta Ga., made a brief address in chapel. In the course of his remarks he said that the pupils of West Kentucky were the most attractive he had ever seen also that we should never put our time on a subject unless we knew why we studied it, and further more to enter the world for people are now living at a higher rate of speed and competition is greater than ever before.

The enthusiasm of the pupils this year is the greatest shown for some time. Each one seems to have entered the work, resolved to do better than ever before.

Good Camera for Sale.

I have a first class magazine camera (Cyclone No. 5) almost new, carries one dozen plates which can be taken out and developed as you wish; the simplest operated camera made, has button or bulb exposure, eight feet of tubing and bulb attached. Will sell at a very reasonable price and include chemicals and paper. Camera has a good lens and makes splendid pictures, just the size for pictures you want to keep. Costs less for supplies than a film camera of smaller size, and is much more convenient. A bargain if you want a camera. TYLER BEALE, Courier Office.

Union City so well known as the place of entertainment has eclipsed every former effort this year, as is shown from Fair Program. And now that they have secured special rates from Jackson and Waverly it is confidently expected that several hundred of our citizens will avail themselves of this opportunity, of not only helping our sister town, in their greatest effort, but that they will look forward to a day of sight seeing at one of the very best county fairs ever held in the state.

Burglars entered the machine shop of Geo. C. Buck, Monday night by carefully removing a window pane, putty and all, placing the glass carefully against the wall outside, and entering the window. They evidently had a very good idea of where the object of their entry was, for Mr. Buck's shot gun and rifle were the only objects missing. Exit was made out of one of the doors of the shop.

"He Who Most Succeeds Must Serve the Best"

Any merchant can fill newspaper space with vain boasting, or can cry aloud from the hill-tops, but this accomplishes nothing. The real test of a firm's ability is shown only in large deals, where all competitors are placed on an equal basis. Then self-praise fades away, as the mist before the morning sun. Results alone count.

They show conclusively that the one that succeeds in securing patronage has—

W. P. Curlin Jr. Entertained Sunday Last,

The attractive little son of Dr. Mrs. Prather Curlin made his first visit to his grandfather and mother Sunday last. A number of his friends were invited in to celebrate his first visit by dining with him, at noon the guests were invited into the dining room where the table was filled with delicate eatables, lemon ices being the last course, after which the little fellow treated his guests with cigars. In the afternoon music was rendered on the violin by Mr. Roy Clark and Mr. Tobe Cappa, accompanied by Mrs. Dr. Prather and Willie Myrtle on the piano, which was appreciated by all. At a late hour the guests departed for home thanking the little fellow for his invitation and wished he would make his visits often and remember them. All that were present spent a jolly day.

Those present were: Mrs. Bettie Reed and daughter, Roy Clarke and Mrs. Nannie Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. John Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ballew, Mrs. John Underwood, Mr. and Mrs. Tobe Cappa and children, Bob Ballew and children, S. J. Self, L. Curlin, of Woodland, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ballew and children, Tyler Harper, J. E. Cappa, of Woodland.

We all like to see beautiful birds—we long to hear them sing. Those who do not have no souls. We are informed that on the night of Tuesday, Sept. 25, a rare collection of song birds will be at the Opera House, when the Beggar Prince Opera Co. will present their great New York comic opera, "Birds of a Feather." The operas presented by the Beggar Prince management are always good, and Manager Harry Leavelle guarantees this year to have the best musical attraction ever brought to Hickman. The birds are two bachelors, Hobbs and Dobbs, and the opera treats of their love affairs. Mr. Harry Leavelle and Mr. Fred Golding will be seen as the Gay birds, and are ably assisted by Miss Etta Merris as "Anna." Miss Merris this season will introduce the latest specialties, assisted by the famous beauty chorus. Special scenery and electrical effects, together with gorgeous costumes, will make the Beggar Prince Opera Co. one of the leading attractions of the season. Seats on sale at Berendes Book Store.

Union City never does anything on a cheap scale. It cost Union City a small fortune to put Jno. L. Sullivan on as an attraction, but this is Union City's way of doing things, and now that they are going to have the real Jno. L. let the people turn out and see his wonderful sparring contests.

Bunk Gardner, police judge at Mayfield, has announced himself as a candidate for railroad commissioner from the First district, which is composed of thirty-nine counties. Judge Gardner is the only opponent of McD. Ferguson, of LaCrosse, the present commissioner from this district. W. H. Southall, of Hopsville, who was a candidate, has withdrawn from the race, which will result in a hot race between McD. Ferguson and Gardner, both of whom are very popular in their districts. A convention will likely be held next spring to make the nomination.

Railroad officials are acquiring in the Hebron rate bill, and therefore, the shippers are becoming suspicious of the measure.

The Confederate Reunion to be Held in Memphis.

Following is the letter being sent out to the Confederate Veterans throughout the south, urging them to be present at the Reunion to be held in Memphis, October 17th.

Hickman, Ky., Aug. 24, 1906.

There will be held in Memphis, Tenn., October 17th, 1906, a Reunion of all Veterans who at any time served under Gen. N. B. Forrest. The citizens of Memphis are enthusiastic, and have promised to throw wide their doors and entertain every old Veteran in royal style. Committees will meet the Veterans at the train on the evening of the 16th and the morning of the 17th, assign them to their homes, and furnish them with orders for horses free to ride in the parade.

There will be a parade on horseback for all who can ride, and automobiles and carriages for all who are unable to ride horseback. It is proposed that we pass in review before the statue of our beloved old Commander, to be followed by appropriate exercises around his tomb. We will then repair to a beautiful park, where all will be served with an old-time Tennessee barbecue, all Veterans to form at the table in companies and regiments just as they disbanded. All regiments will join in the parade just as disbanded under the command of their senior surviving officer present. All regiments from each State to constitute a brigade except Tennesseans, who will be divided into two brigades, West Tennessee and Middle and East Tennessee. By an article of association every soldier of any and all arms of service who at any time during the war served under Gen. N. B. Forrest, and remained true and faithful to the cause unto the end, is entitled to recognition and membership in the corps, and will be admitted to all reunions and exercises without any further enrollment.

Badges similar to those given out at New Orleans will be given all who attend that have not heretofore received them.

Let every Veteran attempt, we will never have such an opportunity to meet and pay loving tribute to him who led us through many a victorious battle. By order of

Jno. L. Don't deny yourself of this marvelous and hotly contested sparring contest which will be free and fun of all.

Frank Smith was thrown from the buggy in which he was driving, Monday and hurt painfully, though not seriously. While driving to town down the hill on Carroll street, holding the lines tight in his hand, the horse stumbled and fell forward and as a natural result threw Frank forward out of the buggy and under the horse's feet. This seems to be the case as related to me by Mr. Smith, although just what happened is not known. The horse was hurt some, and Frank was painfully hurt on one leg and the back. His injuries are not serious.

Paducah School Remains in a Bad Shape.

The arbitration committee, composed of ten reputable citizens, to settle the matter of selecting a teacher in English for the public schools, is as badly deadlocked as the board of education was. Three members of the committee have resigned and there is no prospect of a settlement unless some member gives in. While the committee is deadlocked the schools are suffering for the teacher in English.

Miss Emma Morgan was the former teacher in English, and when it came to an election several weeks ago the board was equally divided on Miss Morgan, six being for her and six against her. In November a number of city officers will be elected and the Morgan question will cut a figure in the races of school trustees.

Does whiskey make a town? Five years ago Fayetteville, N. C. had on deposit in the bank $275,000. They abolished the saloon and the increase in deposits has been nearly four hundred per cent in five years. They now have almost one million dollars on deposit, representing the savings of their citizens since the saloon was abolished. This is only one instance in hundreds that could be cited. Abolish the saloon and establish a savings bank, and let the sons of toil lay aside their earnings for a rainy day.—Ex.

Confederate Veterans Hold Reunion at Fulton.

The Reunion of the Second Kentucky Brigade, U. C. V., with Camp Little 990, convened at Fulton Ky., last week. Speaking of the re-union, the Fulton Leader says at an early hour the old soldiers commenced to assemble at the City Hall to register and have their usual greetings. At eleven o'clock they marched out to Carr's Park where Mayor U. S. Shacklett delivered the welcome address and turned over the keys of the city. Miss Hetie Collins delivered the welcome address for Cranberry Chapter U. D. C., responded to Capt. T. J. Elmore, of Mayfield.

R. Johnson, of Rivers, made an excellent address, followed by Brigadier General W. J. Stone, commanding Second Brigade.

Not the least pleasing feature of the occasion was the big basket dinner and barbecue at noon hour. Everything good to eat imaginable was spread for the old heroes.

After dinner an address was delivered by Gen'l. H. B. Lyon, of Lyon's Kentucky Brigade, followed by Hon. Henry George, Capt. Con federate Army at Peebles Valley, and Gen'l. H. A. Tyler, commanding Forrest's Cavalry.

The election of officers was an annual occurrence of the Second Kentucky Brigade, and it was due then for such an election. In a brief, but brilliant talk, Hon. Henry George placed in nomination, Gen'l. W. J. Stone, who was elected by acclamation as commander of the Second Kentucky Brigade.

The festive and social talks were enjoyed and the closing scenes will long be remembered as a general love feast.

Dr. Williams Under Nominal Bond at Clinton.

The examining trial of Dr Jeff Williams, charged with killing Vaughan Moore on the night of the 10th, was held Wednesday afternoon before Judge Mott Brummal, and after hearing the testimony and argument of counsel Judge Brummal set the accused man's bond at $1000, which was readily given, one ten or a dozen men voluntarily signing it.

It developed on the trial that Moore came to Clinton under the influence of liquor and acted like an insane man most of the day Monday. It was evident that he "had it in for" Williams, and owing to his condition Williams was in momentary expectation of an attack. Moore made himself unpleasant to almost everyone who came to the house, and all feared him in his then condition.

At the time of the shooting Williams had been told that Moore had secured a pistol from a drawer in the room. When Williams stepped out on the porch Moore was sitting on the steps and as soon as he saw the object he fired. Much like the evidence was that he lurched forward and seemed to be trying to get a pistol from his hip pocket. Fearing for his own life, Williams then shot him. All the testimony tended to show that Moore was in a state from drink and that he was thought to be dangerous by those who had come in contact with him. Williams seeming to be an especial object of his drunken hatred. Whether it would have ever led him into making an attack on the Williams can now be merely a subject for conjecture, but Williams thought he was in danger and acted very much as the average man would have done under the circumstances.

With the evidence that was brought forward at the examining trial before it, no jury is very apt to hold Williams guilty of a crime against the laws of the land in killing Moore.—Clinton Gazzette

Rev. Sam G. Jones, who has been conducting a series of revival meetings at the Glen Adair Presbyterian Church in Anniston, Ala., was suddenly stricken with apoplexy while kneeling in prayer at the church Sunday night, and after remaining alone in the church all night was removed to his home in Mississippi, where a wife and four children awaited his coming. On Sunday night he knelt in prayer, and as he continued on his knees for some time, the congregation became alarmed and an attempt was made to raise him. He appeared, however, to be in a stupor, and thinking that it was religious influence, he was wrapped snugly in blankets and left for the night. The next morning he was taken to the home of a neighbor and a physician summoned, who stated that a peculiar malady similar to apoplexy had struck the pastor.

Kimbro Gets Five Years in the Penitentiary.

James Kimbro, the negro desperado, who entered the home of Mrs. Annie Arrington, near Moscow with intentions of assault and robbery, was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. Kimbro narrowly missed a lynching and the entire community in the Moscow neighborhood was greatly aroused over his attempted assault, but after stretching him, the officers took every precaution to elude the angry citizens and kept him on the go all the time until he was finally tried and sentenced. The negro was apprehended at Cairo about two months ago and carried to Mayfield, but a hint to the officers was sufficient and he was removed to Paducah and afterwards brought to this county for trial.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

An easy way to spoil an evening meal is for each one to relate the disappointments that have happened, the slights endured, or the offences given. There are enough to counteract the effect of all good things the most generous and skillful housewife can place upon her table.

Why has a boy any more right to leave his hat on the parlor table than a girl, his gloves on the mantel, his coat on the chair or newel post, and his shoes in the middle of the room? He can learn orderliness just as well as his sister if he begins in time. Now is the time to begin.

If the boy is to be a "little gentleman" when away from home, he must be taught, and not by precept alone, but as well by example, when he is at home. And the influence of the example of the father upon the son, of the mother upon the daughter, will be much more potent than any amount of advice or any rules of etiquette.

The misguided who assert that marriage as an institution is a failure are generally gazing through spectacles blurred by their own mistakes. They have made a failure perhaps, and it may be because of selfishness. There are a thousand happy heartstones to one that is cold and cheerless—a thousand prizes to one blank, and we usually hear more about prizes than blanks. Marriage is not a failure. Some individuals are.

It is probably not true that family "manners," are less courteous now than formerly, probably the reverse is the fact, but it must be admitted that there is yet room for a great deal of improvement. Somehow, somewhere, there has crept into popular acceptance the idea that with marriage, or at least with the waning of the honeymoon, the "lovers' days" are over, and the kindest gentleness, and attention and the tender spicing of the domestic economy of the wedded pair.

Every inebriate you see staggering along the road or street, you know is going to make some woman's life miserable. Some wife or mother, or helpless children are to be at the mercy of the madman. You smile at his antics, without pity for her who is to be the agonized sufferer, nor give a thought of what you might do to help her in her friendless, homeless condition—for the wife of a drunkard, rich or poor, living in gilded halls, or squalid hut, has no home. The tender associations that cluster around that sacred name do not include drunkenness. The two kingdoms, heaven and home, do not admit the drunkard, where he lives is hell.

We occasionally observe our masculine brothers take some exception to our ideas in this column. Well, we don't blame them, they were not particularly written for them, although we believe there is much in this department that would do them good, and are glad to know that some give them a reading. We write particularly in the interests of our wives and daughters, (with an occasional hint for father and sons) and we have received the testimony of many, that they have been greatly encouraged by what they have found in this department, and so we feel our labor is not entirely in vain, but we are encouraged to work on, and as best we can, promote the interest of the Household.

While Robert S. Ingersoll is not often quoted in a Home Circle Department, and his teachings were harmful to the home, yet he said some of the most beautiful things ever spoken and said them the best. He was on one occasion asked to give two views in a symposium of women and in reply said: "I have taken a hundred men to make an encampment, but one woman can make a home. I not only admire woman as the most beautiful object ever created, but I reverence her as the redeemed glory of humanity, of all virtues, the pledge of all perfect qualities of heart and head. It is because women are so much better than men that their faults are considered greater. The one thing in this world, that is constant, the only peak that rises above all the clouds, the one window in which the light burns forever, the one star that darkness cannot quench, is woman's love. It rises to the greatest heights, it sinks to the lowest depths, it forgives the most cruel injuries. A woman's love is the perfume of the heart. This is real love that subdues the earth, the love that has wrought all miracles of art; that gives us music all the way from the cradle song to the grand closing symphony that bears the soul away on wings of fire. A love that is greater than power, sweeter than life and stronger than death."

FOR THE LIVING
If our friends have caskets sealed up and laid away, filled with the sweet perfume of love and kindness which they intend to unseal when this hand is applied to death, then 'tis sweet to think that a rose may be planted over our graves, we would very much prefer they would unseal them while we are climbing this rugged and briared path of life and the keen thorns of pain are lurking near, that weary hours may be cheered and life refreshed and sanctified; now while tired and almost ready to sink by the wayside and no further go. A plain casket and no flowers, if need be, will be all the body will need after the soul has taken flight to other worlds than this, but oh, fill the life with sweetness, kindness and love. Plant a rose on the heartstone of neighbor and friend, that its modest silent sweetness may kiss the weary heart at morn, at noon and at eve and at every hour. Flowers on the grave cast no fragrance backward over the weary years." Plant ye a rose that may smilily bloom over the living. Keep it not for the dead, where it must bloom bowed and silently swayed.

ANOUNCE OF PREVENTION
is worth a pound of cure. There are many poor sufferers, Consumptives who are hopeless of getting well—who, if they had taken care of themselves, would now be well. A cough is the foundation of Consumption. Ballard's Horseradish Syrup will cure that cough. Mrs. S.—Great Falls, Montana writes: "I have used Ballard's Horseradish Syrup in my family for years—my children never suffer with coughs." Sold by Cowgill's Drug Store and Helm & Ellison.

Annual Stockholders' Meeting at Chicago October 17

Public notice is hereby given that the regular annual meeting of the stockholders of the Illinois Central Railroad Company will be held at the Company's office in Chicago, Ill., on Wednesday, October 17, 1906, at 12 o'clock noon.

To permit personal attendance at said meeting there will be issued to each holder of one or more shares of the capital stock of the Illinois Central Railroad Company, as registered on the books of the company at the close of business on Monday, September 24, 1906, who is of full age, a ticket enabling him or her to travel free over the company's lines from the station on the Illinois Central railroad nearest to his or her registered address to Chicago and return such ticket to be good for the journey to Chicago only during the four days immediately preceding and the day of the meeting, and for the return journey from Chicago only on the day of the meeting and the four days immediately following when properly countersigned and stamped during business hours on or before Saturday, October the 20, 1906—that is to say, between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m.—in the office of the assistant secretary, Mr. W. G. Bruen, in Chicago. Such ticket may be obtained by any holder of stock registered as above, on application in writing, to the President of the company in Chicago, but each stockholder must individually apply for his or her ticket. Each application must state the full name and address of the stockholder exactly as given in his or her certificate of stock, together with the number and date of such certificate. No more than one person will be carried free in respect to any one holding of stock as registered on the books of the company.

A. G. Hackstaff,
Secretary.

A very important notice has been issued by the Secretary of the Treasury to various National banks where Government funds are deposited—not be used for speculative purposes. The recent bull market in Wall St. has made money scarce and call rates have gone soaring around 10 per cent. The Secretary of the Treasury states in his letter to the banks that he recognizes the right of individuals, or even of banks, to loan money for speculation on ample security and at reasonable rates of interest, but he says emphatically that the Government funds, recently deposited in various National banks, were put there to help business and not for speculative purposes. He says that if banks have more money than they can legitimately use in their own locality such deposits will be recalled and put where they will do the most good. The effect of this announcement was almost instantaneous. Call money in New York dropped from a point to a point and one-half, indicating that the money famine was rather of an artificial nature.

GENERAL ROBERT E. LEE was the greatest General the world has ever known. Ballard's Snow Liniment is the greatest Liniment. Quickly cures all pains. It is within the reach of all. T. H. Polster, Hempstead, Texas, writes: This is to certify that Ballard's Snow Liniment has been used in my household for years and has been found to be an excellent Liniment for Rheumatic pains. I am never without it." Sold by Cowgill's Drug Store and Helm & Ellison.

John D. Rockefeller has subscribed a fund for the purpose of sending missionaries into the mountain districts of Kentucky. If Mr. Rockefeller will come with them and take the medicine he prescribes for those rough, though honest people, their mission may not be without result, though be the only convert.
